

CASTRO DEFIES UNITED STATES

Refuses to Accede to Demand for Arbitration of Claims.

UNCLE SAM'S NEXT MOVE NOTHING GIVEN OUT AS TO FUTURE ACTION.

Caracas, Venezuela, March 3.—(Via Willemstad, Curacao, March 3.)—After an interval of seven months W. W. Russell, the American minister, has presented to the government of Castro another note from the Washington government insisting upon arbitration of claims of those American citizens who believe they have suffered injustice at the hands of Venezuela. This action was taken by Mr. Russell on Feb. 27.

In this new note Washington reiterates its previous demands. Judgment is expected momentarily in the suit brought by the government for the annulment of the famous Fitzgerald concession, now the property of the Orinoco corporation.

President Castro has twice refused to submit to arbitration the American claims mentioned in the foregoing dispatch. The last refusal was in July, 1907. The five claims which form the basis of the present negotiations are those of A. F. Juarez, the Orinoco corporation, the Orinoco Steamship company, the New York & Bernander Asphalt company and the United States & Venezuela company, otherwise known as the Critchfield concern. These claims run into millions of dollars.

SPECIFIC REFUSAL.

Venezuela Refuses to Arbitrate Any or All of the Claims.

Washington, March 3.—Venezuela has again declined to arbitrate the questions of controversy which have been pending for some time between the Castro administration and the American government. This time the refusal is made specific with respect to each of the questions separately, and differs from the last refusal to arbitrate in that the refusal then was made as to all questions en bloc.

It was explained at the state department today that the presentation by Minister Russell of each of the five points in dispute with a request for arbitration leaves no foundation for a future negotiation by Venezuela to the effect that she was not asked to arbitrate any of the questions separately. This would seem to clear up the situation by making it plain that diplomacy can accomplish nothing further toward settling these controversies.

That this deadlock will be made to appear to the United States senate when it receives the contents of the final of the state department respecting Venezuela—information for which it looked last week—there can be no doubt.

In asking arbitration of the differences, the American government has left open the question of machinery of the arbitration to be employed. This government would have been glad to have had the controversy go to The Hague. Failing in this, it is believed any other duly appointed tribunal would have been acceptable.

TAFT TALKS TO THE POSTOFFICE

Gov. Guild Explains His Position Regarding Tail of Ticket.

NEW YORKER GETS FUNNY WILL CONTINUE EFFORTS

Boston, March 3.—A great audience assembled at Symphony hall tonight and heard addresses by Secretary of War Taft, United States Senator Elmer J. Burke of Nebraska, Governor Curtis D. Johnson of New York, Governor Eben S. Draper of Connecticut, and the speakers were guests of the Republican club of Massachusetts, which held its annual dinner in the hall previous to the speaking.

The address of Secretary Taft followed lines similar to the one which he delivered in Kansas City several weeks ago.

Gould Would Not Refuse.

Governor Gould took occasion to deny that he had been a party to any arrangement by which he would receive the nomination for vice president. He added that should he be selected, he would not refuse the nomination.

Discussing national affairs, Governor Gould said:

"We may not all agree, I do not, with certain methods the present president has employed. The skillful use of the knife is sometimes better for steady progress on a long road than violent rowling with the spur.

"The great essential fact is that though in this or that detail the president may have been wrong in method, he has been sincerely, fearlessly and everlastingly right in principle.

"His successor is to have no easy task. The four years before us are crowded with difficulties and dangers. The best brains among us are needed for the tasks we have to face.

Taft His Candidate.

"In this transition period into which we are plunged every kind of radicalism is daily suggested. The next president should have a thorough knowledge of constitutional law and the limitation of the powers of the national executive and national government.

"I believe that among good men the best for us today is the canal builder, the jurist, the diplomat, the administrator, the American whose private character is as white as his judicial ermine, William H. Taft of Ohio."

Later Secretary Taft was escorted to the Hotel Somerset, where he made a brief address before the members of the Roosevelt Real Estate exchange.

ROOSEVELT A BLUE PILL.

New Yorker Poked Fun at the President and His Apparent.

Boston, March 3.—A witty address by Simon Ford of New York at the expense of President Roosevelt and Secretary Taft before the Boston Real Estate exchange and auction board at the Hotel Somerset late tonight, brought Secretary Taft to his feet in a prompt response to what he termed an insinuation against the chief.

Mr. Ford's striking remark which called for the response was:

"I look upon Theodore the First as a sort of political blue pill. The body politic doubtless was suffering from many disorders, the elimination of which was necessary. Well, we have had our dose all right. His last message certainly made a noise like a third tier."

Taft Was Touchy.

When Secretary Taft arose, he referred to Mr. Ford's remarks as follows:

"I am put in an embarrassing position. If I could feel that what he said was intended to offend, I should feel different. If those remarks were intended for another purpose, every impulse of loyalty in me requires an answer.

"I love a chief, and when I admire him from top to toe, I cannot be silent and permit such insinuations, although they may be hidden in a jest. I do not mean to say that the American people have not a right to jest. I should retire to a monastery."

INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION.

Nelson Comments on Davis Bill Now Before Congress.

A. C. Nelson, state superintendent of public instruction, returned yesterday from Washington, D. C., where he has been attending the convention of the superintendents' department of the National Educational association.

Mr. Nelson said that industrial education received considerable attention during the convention, and that the so-called Davis bill, now before congress, providing for the establishment of agricultural high schools, was not suited to our institutions, in that it would tend to class distinction, as farmers' children would attend these institutions supported by the federal government, while others would attend the locally supported schools.

Banks Must Pay License.

Godbe Notifies Delinquent Institutions to Settle.

All banks must hereafter pay a license to the city, and License Assessor Godman yesterday notified several delinquent institutions to settle immediately.

The merchants' license ordinance also applies to banks, but for some reason there has not been any effort to enforce its provisions in regard to these institutions in the past except in a nominal way, and several have never paid. According to the assessor, the delinquent banks owe the city about $2,500, and he intends to collect that amount.

The ordinance provides that the bank license shall be based on the capital, surplus and undivided profits.

JESSE HAS THE BUG.

Tucson, Ariz., March 2.—Letters have been received by prominent Arizona Democrats here from Jesse R. Grant of New York expressing his willingness that the Arizona delegation should present his name at the Denver convention in case W. J. Bryan is not nominated on the first ballot.

AMERICAN GIRLS

Deputy Sheriffs Make Fruitless Search in Vicinity of Granite

WANDERER APPEARS AT SEVERAL FARM HOUSES.

Search is being made for a beautiful demented girl, who is supposed to be wandering in the wilds in the vicinity of Granite, twelve miles southeast of Salt Lake. Deputy Sheriffs Joe Sharp and T. L. Irvine went to Granite yesterday to look for the unfortunate girl. After a long search, they returned to town, having been unable to find her, but will resume the hunt today. They will be assisted by other men. It is planned to scour the hills, and, if the girl is still anywhere near Granite, to find her and take her to some place where she will receive the care and attention her condition requires.

The first seen of the girl was on last Saturday, when she appeared at Trout's farm and asked for something to eat. She was given some food and butter, after which she went away. She was next seen at M. H. Walker's farm. From there she apparently wandered toward the foothills at the edge of the farm. Several children who attend the Granite school remember having seen the girl walking aimlessly through the sage brush. One child declared that she heard the girl scream and was so frightened that she ran home.

Make Energetic Search.

These stories concerning the unfortunate girl rapidly spread through the neighborhood and pitying men and women began to wonder what could have become of her. It was feared that she might have been lost in the wilds near Granite or have perished from exposure or starvation. The anxiety concerning her fate grew so great that some one informed the sheriff of the matter, and Deputy Sheriffs Sharp and Irvine went out to search for the strange wanderer.

The deputy sheriffs questioned everybody who had seen the wanderer, getting a good description of her. When they were convinced that she was actually a creature of flesh and blood and not a figure created by some person's imagination, they commenced an energetic search for her.

They found her in the sage brush bordering the Walker farm. They found a tin bucket, containing some quince preserves and several slices of bread and butter, part of which had been eaten. On the bottom of the bucket were the initials "J. H. L."

They could find no footprints or other traces and were at last forced to give up the hunt for the day.

Today they are determined to find the girl if she is alive or her body if she is dead.

Mr. Trout Has a Theory.

The girl is about 18 years old. She was bareheaded when seen and was clad in a white waist and a black skirt.

It is said that Mr. Trout believed that he knew where the girl had come from. The deputy sheriffs called at his farm to question him, but learned that he had come to Salt Lake.

They intend to get what information they can from Trout today. On the supposition that Trout knew something about the girl, the theory was advanced yesterday that she was the demented member of some family living near Granite and that she has wandered back to her home.

Nothing on which to base this theory except the report that Trout had formed some opinion concerning where the girl had come from.

Residents of Granite are unwilling to consider the girl's theory, unless it is backed by something more substantial. They urge that the girl should be found if she is in the hills and that if she is not in the hills the authorities should learn where she has gone.

IN POLICE CIRCLES.

James Barnwell, formerly a conductor on the Utah Pacific, was in the police court yesterday afternoon, charged with beating Thomas Leslie, janitor at the Lincoln school. Barnwell admitted that he had struck the janitor. He explained that he boards with a widow who has a little daughter, attending the Lincoln school on Monday morning. He declared that she was afraid to go to school. Her mother asked her the cause of her fear, and she said she was afraid that the janitor would shake her, saying that he had roughly handled other children. Barnwell offered to accompany the child to school. When he got there, he asked Leslie, he said, why he made the children afraid of him. To this, he said, the janitor replied that it was none of his business, as he was not the father of the little girl. Barnwell then slapped the janitor. Leslie, he said, struck him and he knocked the janitor to the ground.

Judge Diehl will sentence Barnwell today. The railroad man was released upon his own recognizance, on his promise to appear for sentence.

William Edwards, charged with beating his wife, Nellie Edwards, was arraigned in the police court yesterday afternoon. Judge Diehl continued the case until today, when Edwards will be given a hearing before Judge Whitaker of the city court. Mrs. Edwards claims that her husband beat her upon the face and head with his clenched fist during a domestic misunderstanding.

Macon E. Reeves, the Knutsford hotel waiter, whose wife is suspected of having murdered her infant child, was released from the county jail yesterday. Reeves was detained because it was feared that he would commit violence on learning of his domestic misfortune.

Mrs. Reeves is still at Holy Cross hospital. No complaint has yet been filed against her.

Ell Lamike, the Austrian who is alleged to be a member of a band of robbers was taken from the county jail to Holy Cross hospital yesterday. He is dangerously ill with pneumonia. Lamike is alleged to have robbed the residents of a countryman about a month ago. It is claimed that he is a follower of "Prize," a notorious Austrian bandit, who for a time operated in Salt Lake and surrounding towns.

ITALIAN ACTS QUEERLY.

Gost Kras, an Italian, who for three days sat in a vacant lot at Eighth South and Main street, related the residents of his neighborhood and the police were notified yesterday. The man was taken to the city jail.

NEW CITY PARK PROPOSITION

Mouth of Canyon May Be Transformed Into Pleasure Ground for People.

ESTIMATES ON BRIGHAM COST OF PARKING PRESENTED IN FIGURES.

The board of park commissioners contemplates the establishment of a city park at the mouth of City Creek canyon. The land belongs to the city and could with little expense be made into an attractive spot.

Nicholas Byhower, superintendent of parks, has been instructed to prepare plans and specifications for the work and he will submit them to the board at an early date. The proposition embraces the planting of trees and the sodding of the six-acre tract which is to constitute the park.

City Creek canyon has long been a favorite spot for those in search of recreation, and the only objection to it has been that those without conveyances have had to walk several miles in order to find a suitable spot. The new park will be within easy walking distance of the heart of the city and will, it is thought, be popular with all those living in the northern section of the city.

The superintendent also submitted estimates on the parking of Brigham street, from State to the reservation, Second South from Second East to Tenth East, and East from Brigham to Third South. The estimates are as follows:

Brigham Street, from State to the reservation, Second South, 1.11, $2,612.32. Sixth East, .88, $1,655.99. All property owners will be notified of the action of the board and notices of intention will be published as is done in the case of other improvements. For details, the direction of the superintendent will be improved by the contractor and the cost assessed against the owner.

TO GOVERN FRUIT STANDS

New Ordinance Planned Calculated to Protect Product on Display From Infection.

Walter Frazer, city food inspector, is preparing an ordinance which will regulate the display of fruit and other foods and vegetables in front of stores.

The ordinance will cover fruit stands, as well as grocery stores and commission houses, and will provide that certain varieties of foods cannot be displayed in the case without some protection. For instance, glass cases must be supplied.

The present practice of displaying on the sidewalks all manner of eatables without taking into consideration whether the food is infected has caused much protest among the housewives of the city and has also aroused much indignation on these foods and much sickness results.

Such an ordinance will no doubt be bitterly opposed by the vendors, who hope to be able to muster enough support to pass it through the council.

SNOW IS PROMISED.

Indications Point to Local Precipitation During Day.

Local snow is promised for today by the weather bureau. Local snow is expected to mean a decline in the temperature, but whether it will or not the forecasters refuse to state. The day yesterday was as fine as anyone could wish. The average of the temperature was 40 and the maximum 51. The coldest was 30. The record still shows conditions to be 2 degrees above normal. There was no precipitation yesterday, and the accumulated deficiency of moisture since the first of the year is beginning to be a matter of some concern.

While Salt Lake is enjoying the springlike weather, there are countries the other side of the globe where the weather is keeping a shivery state all the while. Calgary is 10 below, and at Swift Current 6 below. Sault Ste. Marie saved its distance by having only zero for low.

The rest of the land was featureless, so far as the weather is concerned, there being reported in no region noteworthy records of heat, cold, snow, rain or wind.

The day's meteorological report says: Temperature, 6 p. m., 46 degrees; maximum temperature, 51 degrees; minimum temperature, 30 degrees; mean temperature, 40 degrees, which is 2 degrees above normal. Total excess of temperature since the first of the month, 39 degrees; accumulated excess of temperature since Jan. 1, 164 degrees. Total precipitation, none; total precipitation since first of the month, trace, which is .18 inch below normal. Accumulated deficiency since Jan. 1, 1.10 inches. Relative humidity at 6 p. m., 50 per cent.

INTIMATE WITH PATIENT.

Son of Infirmary Superintendent Must Face Serious Charge.

Provo, March 3.—William Camp, the 16-year-old son of Superintendent Camp of the county infirmary, has been arrested and charged with committing a statutory offense against Miss E. J. Carson, an inmate of the infirmary. A statement has been issued by a brother of the girl extorting the superintendent from all blame.

The case will be tried in the juvenile court next Friday afternoon. The woman is 32 years old and is feeble-minded.

WITNESSES ARE EVASIVE.

Men Called in Sunday Saloon Violation Case Change Story.

Because of the evasive answers of a witness, the first case against a saloon-keeper for Sunday liquor selling was lost in police court yesterday. As a result it is probable that Ed Maguire, the defendant, will be charged with contempt of court for the alleged tampering with witnesses.

Three men were arrested at the rear of Maguire's saloon on Sunday evening. When taken to the station house they told the officers that they had secured several bottles of "boozie" from Maguire's rear door. Accordingly Maguire's arrest followed for violation of the Sunday closing law. The three men were bailed out of jail pending the trial and it is claimed that during this time they were influenced by the defendant.

When the case was called for trial yesterday the witnesses denied everything they had admitted when first placed under arrest. In vain the city attorney attempted to get direct answers from them and Judge Murphy impatiently ordered the case dismissed after intimating that some one should be prosecuted for contempt of court.

ELLIIS IS FINED $50.

Convicted of Selling Tobacco to Four Minors.

Alvord Ellis was fined $50 in police court yesterday for selling tobacco to minors. The conviction was secured on the testimony of four boys who told the court that they had purchased tobacco from Ellis for more than a year. The boys' ages range from nine to sixteen years. Attention was directed to the case by a parent of one of the boys who wrote to the principal of the Dees school where they were in pupil.

In his own defense Ellis said he thought the boys were sent for the tobacco by their elders. Mrs. Ellis told the court that the boys never purchased tobacco from her husband without an order.

The author further stated that he had nothing against Mr. Wade, who he let, but that he was a good fellow and that the writer realized that the rates established by the company by which he was employed.

Fat Woman's Troubles.

If you try to get the fat off with the exercise, tell me please, where's one going to find the time? I haven't any faith in it, anyway, as a reducer. It hurts the fat person's weakest spot—the heart. As for dieting, that is out of the question, altogether. Better be fat than have cancer of the stomach.

The safest and quickest way to reduce excess fat is also the cheapest and easiest. Go to the druggist and get 1/2 ounce Marmola, 1/2 ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, 1/2 ounce Syrup Simplex. They cost but a trifle. Take them home, shake them together in a bottle, and take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime. If you are not a half to a pound of fat a day inside of a month, your case will be one in a hundred. Try it—makes you feel better all over.

House Committee to Hear Arguments on Impeachment Matter.

Washington, March 3.—The taking of testimony preliminary to a determination of the question whether or not impeachment proceedings should be instituted against Judge L. R. Wilfley of the United States court for China, pursuant to a resolution of inquiry introduced by Representative Waldo to practice of the sub-committee having the matter in charge. Today's session was consumed in a further and final cross-examination of Lorin S. Andrews, the American attorney, who with other Shanghai lawyers, brought charges against Judge Wilfley of misbehavior in office.

Judge Wilfley himself conducted the cross-examination today, and clashed between him and Mr. Andrews were
